Ed Henthorn

Hi, I'm Ed Henthorn, aka the horseshoe guy. I've been married for over 32 years and have 2 grown boys. I am originally from Amity. After spending over 20 years in Houston, TX my wife decided we should move back to Arkansas. We landed in Bonnerdale and now have 10 acres with a variety of animals.

I decided a few years ago that I had the tools and after 35 years of industrial maintenance experience, the skills to create something from my chosen medium, horseshoes. To my surprise the utilitarian items such as towel racks and coat hangers are not what I was asked to build. Names, signs, and art was the request of the day. To my even greater shock some of the ladies at the gallery saw some of my stuff online and asked me to visit the gallery. I stopped by one Saturday with some samples of my work and in a whirlwind, I was a member of the gallery and a displaying artist. I still struggle with the concept of being called an artist, but it beats some other things one could be referred to as. It is a joy to participate with the group here and I encourage everyone to stop and see all the various skills and visions on display at Ouachita Artist
