ACRYLIC POURING AND MIXING COLORS

September 9, 6-8 p.m.

Instructor: Jacqueline La Casse

$30.00, supplies furnished

Maximum class size 8

Acrylic pouring is also known as fluid art and liquid art. It's a form of art that involves mixing different acrylic paint colors with a pouring medium and then pouring the paint directly on to a canvas without a brush. You then gently move the paint around by tilting the canvas in different directions to change the direction of where the paint flows. No previous experience is necessary, but you will need this class in order to take the Level II class.

Pouring is very messy! Please wear old clothes and put your hair up!
